

The European chemicals sector is a pillar of the European economy...

... it has made major investments in improving its energy efficiency...

... but energy consumption goes beyond fuel and power use as oil and gas are also an important raw material source for our sector.

