

In flight, day and night

Icarus burnt his wings flying too close to the sun. But the Solar Impulse will take off and fly for several days and nights powered by nothing else than sunlight. The craft will rely on advanced photovoltaic cells, energy storage and lightweight materials – a technological gamble and a bet on the future for the project's partners, amongst which Solvay acts as a key Advanced Materials provider.

SOLVAY
MAIN PARTNER
SOLARIMPULSE